DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 8 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In claim 8, the limitation "said both sides having said first battery contact member and said second battery contact member" is vague and indefinite. It is not clear what the term "having" means. In claim 11, the limitation "the first bending part is nearer the battery chamber than is the second bending part" is indefinite. It is not clear what "nearer" means. Does it mean nearer to the center, walls or ends of the battery chamber?

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-5 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Stanchus et al. (US Patent No. 5,842,071). Stanchus discloses a camera back including an opening for a battery formed therein (abstract). In particular, Stanchus discloses a cover (comprising at least covers 12 and 14) having conductive properties (column 3, lines 2-16) and first and second battery contact members 86 and 96 coming in contact with negative and positive poles of the battery respectively.

The first battery contact member includes an elastic arm 92 arranged to make contact with an inner wall of the cover (via conductive contact 96 secured to databack cover 14). Although not explicitly disclosed, it is understood that the contact members are made of thin metal as is notoriously well known in the art. The arm 92 is bent at a first bending part to extend or incline towards an attachment direction when the cover 14 is attached to the main body.

Stanchus also discloses a battery chamber (72 and 76) mounted on the camera body that is partly arcuate in cross-section and has a rear open and both sides both sides closed with at least a portion of both contact members disposed on the sides of the battery chamber (see Figure 1).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 6-8, 10 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Stanchus in view of Ono (US Patent No. 6,301,448). Stanchus discloses all that is claimed except for a second bending part formed in the arm portion of the first contact member so that the second bending part is farther from the battery chamber than the first bending part and contacts the inner wall of the cover to direct the tip of the arm away from the cover. Ono discloses a battery holding structure including a contact member arm portion 4A that includes a first bending part (the beginning of hook 41A) and a second bending part (the crest of hook 41A) wherein the tip of arm 4A is biased or directed away from the battery chamber cover 2A by the second bending part and wherein the second bending part contact the inner wall of the cover. It would have been obvious to utilize the contact member of Ono in the camera of Stanchus for the purpose of providing an electrically conductive back cover of a camera functioning as battery contact while minimizing any electrical noise.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-8 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new grounds of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

Art Unit: 2851
